AT ADVANCED LEVEL (A/S AND A2)

Our Course: New AQA Specification

Summary of Subject Content

The new specification builds on the skills already established at GCSE and provides a relevant, interesting and contemporary course for post-16 students. The new topic areas encourage students to develop their enthusiasm for language learning and enable them to communicate confidently and effectively in the foreign language.

Candidates who have followed the AS/A2 specification will be well prepared to use the language for practical communication, for further study and/or for employment.

Aptitudes, skills or qualities you will need:-

Students should have achieved at least a grade B at GCSE. They should essentially enjoy studying foreign languages and be willing to spend time learning and extending their vocabulary.

Homework and Coursework

Students will be expected to learn all new vocabulary as a matter of course. In addition, approximately four hours of homework will be set per week. This may be in the form of reading, grammar exercises, preparing a text, listening, etc.

Students will also be expected to broaden their vocabulary via regular use of recommended websites.

There is no coursework at either AS or A2 level.

Value of the subject for higher education and future careers:-

There are many types of degree courses on offer, some combined with a second language, some combined with other subjects, e.g. Spanish and History, Spanish and Economics, Spanish and Business Management etc. Foreign languages at AS and A Level also equip the student with a high level of communication skills now essential to many professions, e.g. Marketing, PR, Media, etc.
